Our Purpose

Firm Overview

NFC is an experienced firm founded in 2014 that serves commercial processors, meat and grain producers, family farms, co-ops, and agribusiness customers in North America. Operating out of multiple offices, our team aims to develop dedicated, personal, and trusted relationships to deliver superior hedging, brokerage, risk management, and managed futures investing services to every customer.

NFC Research

Industry-leading research is the backbone of NFC's service offerings—our commitment to client service begins with expert data analysis. We synthesize raw USDA statistics daily into actionable information, allowing clients to stay ahead of the market.

Risk Management

Managing potential is what keeps our world-leading agribusinesses around for generations. Proper risk management lets our clients make informed decisions throughout each crop year and delivery cycle. NFC's risk management services assure clients that future generations will have a solid foundation for growth.

Crop & Livestock Insurance

As a registered insurance agent through RCIS, a global insurance leader Zurich subsidiary, NFC provides crop and livestock insurance (LRP & LGM) to producers in vital agricultural regions. Our insurance products allow producers to work confidently, knowing their assets are protected.

Managed Futures

Diversification is a necessity for every portfolio. NFC's Managed Futures offering allows clients to secure their assets using CME, CBOT, and ICE contracts in livestock, Grain, Metals, Equity Indices, Energies, and Softs. In a volatile global market, our managed futures help secure your goals by shaping a portfolio around the products everybody needs and knows.
